COOLING & WARMING

APPLICATION

To be used as a massage liniment for the horse's muscles, joints, and tendons, offering an initial cooling sensation followed by a warming effect. The gel's formulation facilitates easy application.

Eclipse Biofarmab Liniment Blue is a dual-action liniment that begins by cooling and then transitions to warming, targeting the horse's muscles, tendons, joints, and ligaments. It is gentle enough for frequent use.

This liniment's versatility makes it highly effective on both the softer muscular areas and the denser structures of tendons, joints, and ligaments.

Applying Liniment Blue before physical activities serves as an excellent preparatory measure, warming up the muscles ahead of the physical warm-up, thus facilitating better preparation and swift recovery.

Its dual-action properties initially mitigate any internal bleeding, with the cooling effect preventing further escalation. Subsequently, as the cooling sensation subsides, the warming action encourages circulation of fresh, healthy blood to aid in healing the injury.

Avoid use on open wounds or damaged skin to prevent irritation. Ensure the product is kept out of children's reach and avoid contact with eyes and sensitive skin.

Important: Due to the presence of menthol, Liniment Blue requires a 96-hour competition waiting period in Sweden.
